II. IN THE SPECIFICATION

5. Insert the following paragraph before paragraph [0011] (see United States Patent Application 2004/0111424)¹ (i.e. as the fifth paragraph on page 2 of the specification as filled):

A web server can be located at any facility with Internet access. Internet services providers (ISPs), for example AOL, Earthlink, and Verio, are well known in the art. The web server may be hosted at an ISP that may provide services to a variety of different customers. Also ISPs are known to provide Internet access service to web browser users.

¹ Throughout this paper, reference to the present invention will be made using the paragraph and line numbering contained in the published version of this application, namely, United States Patent Application 2004/0111424. This is done to more precisely point out the various references.
